Through the years, music was a major part of her life; she enjoyed singing, playing piano and going to concerts with her family. Betty and Steve enjoyed playing bingo and she bowled and did some quilting. She liked spending time outdoors and being at the lake and fishing was always fun. Betty and her friends frequented the garage for coffee where they were affectionately known as "The Golden Girls". Spending time with her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren brought her much joy.
